Dear Graham,

Probably before this letter reaches you we will have spoken. It is really intended to let you have the final certificate for Benhilton as soon after you return from holiday as possible.

As usual the standard of your Electrical and Lighting Manual is exemplary and, try as I might I could detect nothing I could criticise. Would some of the larger electrical contracting companies produce something half as good.

I hope to be able this afternoon to take the volume and certificate to Fr. Michael. If he's not there and the house is barred I shall get it to him as soon as possible.

With best wishes,
